

Join a session to learn about the future of housing in Marin County!

The County of Marin is finalizing its plan to address housing needs across the next 8 years, also known as the Housing Element.

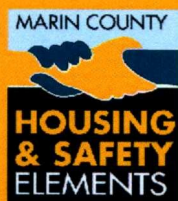

Join one of our virtual community meetings to learn more about what this means and what to expect in the coming years. There will be Spanish interpretation.

We will be covering the following topics:

- Comments we received from the State on the Draft Housing Element
- Updates that are expected to the Countywide Plan and Development Code related to housing development
